5.3 Trade Division

This programme consists of 25 training courses covering 26 trade divisions. For details, please refer to Annex 1.

5.4 Length of Training

This programme will last for two years.

5.5 Required Wage for Employing Trainee

- 5.5.1 The employer shall sign an “employment contract” with the trainee and pay their wage on a monthly basis. At the same time, the monthly wage shall not be less than the amount specified by the HKIC, which is HK$15,000 for the first year and HK$20,000 for the second year. The monthly wage paid by the employer to the Bar Bender and Fixer or Formworker trainee shall be not less than HK$24,500 for the first year and not less than HK$26,500 for the second year.
- 5.5.2 The employer is required to submit trainee attendance and wage payment records (please refer to Annex 6) together with third-party payroll proof, such as bank transfer records, bank statements, MPF (Mandatory Provident Fund) reports, and other documents to the HKIC every month.

5.6 Monthly Training Allowance for Trainee and Employer Bonus

- 5.6.1 The HKIC will provide training allowance of up to HK$5,000/month (first year) and HK$6,000/month (second year) to eligible employers.

Details are as follows:

The maximum amount of the total allowance is $(\text{HK$}5,000 \times 12) + (\text{HK$}6,000 \times 12) = \text{HK$}132,000$

- 5.6.2 If the employer fails to pay the specified wage as required, the HKIC will suspend the payment of the relevant allowance until the employer provides a reasonable explanation or repays the specified wage owed.
- 5.6.3 The allowance is calculated on a pro-rata basis of the employee's monthly wage. If the employer has paid for the employee's leave days, the allowance will be paid in full for the relevant days. If the employer does not pay for the employee's leave days, the employer will not receive the allowance for the relevant days. For instance, if an employee applies to injury leave, sick leave or maturity leave, and the employee pays four-fifths of the relevant wage, the employee will receive four-fifths of the allowance. If the employee's leave is not paid by the employer, the employer will not receive the allowance for the relevant leave period.
- 5.6.4 During the 24-month programme period, if the HKIC finds that the employer is in breach of the provisions of this Agreement or the relevant laws of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR), the HKIC will formally write to notify that the employer shall rectify the problem and report to the HKIC within the prescribed time limit (one month in general). Otherwise, the HKIC will terminate the Agreement and stop issuing any allowance immediately, and put the relevant employer on the watchlist. The HKIC has the right to recover all the allowances that have been issued.
- 5.6.5 Training allowance (for the trainees) will be calculated based on the actual number of working days. For full attendance, a full monthly training allowance will be issued. The deduction of allowance for absence at work is calculated based on 25 working days per month.

Calculation Example (Take first year of training, trainee allowance of HK$5,000 as an example):

If the actual number of working days of the trainee in a month is 20 days, the following allowance will be issued to the employer:

$$\text{HK$}5,000 - \text{HK$}5,000 \div 25 \times 5 = \text{HK$}4,000$$

- 5.6.6 Starting from 1 May 2023, the employer will receive a bonus of HK$ 10,000 for each trainee successfully trained to become a skilled worker.

- 5.6.7 If the employer/trainee withdraws from the programme with a reasonable justification which is accepted by the HKIC, the HKIC will issue training allowance in proportion as per the last working day of the trainee, and will not recover the training allowance issued previously. If the programme is terminated without a reasonable justification, the HKIC reserves the right to recover from the employer the previously issued training allowance.

5.7 Trainee Assessment and Bonus

- 5.7.1 If a trainee (for 2-year training period) satisfactorily completes 12 months training, passes the mid-term assessment, trainee will receive a retention bonus of HK$ 20,000 and continue with the remaining 12-month training. The bonus will be paid by the HKIC to the trainee directly. Please refer to Annex 5 for the “Trainee Allowance Processing Form”. If the trainee fails the assessment, the HKIC will provide one re-take opportunity. The training programme will be terminated immediately if the trainee still cannot pass after re-taking the assessment.
- 5.7.2 After passing the above assessment, trainee can move on to the second-year training. If the trainee’s performance is satisfactory, the HKIC will arrange the trainee to attend the final assessment in the 24th month of the training. After passing the final assessment, register as senior tradesmen, i.e. skilled workers, the trainee will receive a completion bonus of HK$30,000 from the HKIC. Please refer to Annex 5 for the “Trainee Allowance Processing Form”. If the trainee fails the final assessment, the HKIC will provide one re-take opportunity. If the trainee cannot pass the final assessment after the re-take, he will not receive the completion certificate and will not be able to acquire the Senior Tradesman qualification, i.e. skilled workers qualification.
- 5.7.3 If a trainee is absent from the enrichment programme and fails to submit reasonable explanation and supporting documents in writing within 10 working days after the course day, he will be considered as absent without reason. The HKIC will provide supplementary classes to trainees who are absent with reasonable explanations when resources allow, and the supplementary class will only be arranged once. If the trainee is absent from the supplementary class arranged by the HKIC, he will be regarded as absent without reason. For every absence without reason, HK$1,500 will be deducted from the retention and completion bonus.
- 5.7.4 After obtaining the certificate of completion, the trainee can apply for exemption of the trade test of the Hong Kong Construction Industry Trade Testing Centre through the Traineeship Management, and obtain the Trade Test Certificate for Registered Specialist Trade Contractors.
